Eternal Flame

Burns At Head Of Kennedy's Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eternal flame burning at the head of his grave, John F. Kennedy slept the eternal sleep today in Arlington National Cemetery.
The day of Kennedy's last journey was sharp and clear, its bright crispness in sharp contrast to the gray sorrow that etched the faces of the million people who lined the streets of Washington to say goodbye.
Nine servicemen bore the bier from the Capitol as the band played "Hail to the Chief." To the steady beat and roll of drums and the mournful tolling of church bells, the caisson rolled up Pennsylvania Avenue along the historic route the young President had traveled after his inauguration less than three years ago.
As the caisson turned the corner by the Treasury building a woman broke into a high pitched wail.
At the White House, Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy brothers, Robert and Edward, left their limousine while the caisson paused for a few minutes at the north portico.
As bagpipes played, the mourners began an eight-block march to St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral.
A sailor carrying the presidential flag followed the caisson.

Industry To Curtail Stores, Schools, Offices Will Suspend For Holiday

Almost all workaday activity Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving.
Federal, state, county and city offices will be closed along with stores, schools and financial institutions. Some industrial plants also will join in the holiday or curtail work schedules.
East Liverpool public and parochial schools will close at the end of classes Wednesday for the holiday, returning to studies on Monday.
City Hall, Carnegie Public Library, Ohio State Employment Service office and Post Office also will close for the holiday.
The Post Office will observe its noon closing on Wednesday and a regular holiday schedule will be followed Thursday with no delivery or window service. Mail will be received and dispatched as usual, however.
Applicants for jobless benefits who normally report on Thursday should report Wednesday. Harry L. Dinsmore, OSES manager, said.
Area potteries will curtail all but essential operations.
Most school systems will be closed from Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning, giving students a four-day holiday.
Hancock County schools will be closed Thursday and Friday.

Jack Ruby's Indicted In Oswald Case

Charged In Murder Of Man Accused As President's Slayer

City Police Donate To Widow In Dallas

The police department has started a collection of funds to aid the widow of Patrolman J. D. Tippitt, a Dallas officer shot to death Friday by Lee H. Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Many local officers already have contributed to the fund, but donations also will be accepted from the public, Chief A. J. Radeschi said. The fund will be closed Dec. 1 and the money will be mailed to Mrs. Tippitt and her three small children, he said.

cus of assassinating President Kennedy.

The trial is scheduled for Dec. 9 in Texas District Court. However such trials often are postponed.

The indictment was for murder with malice, for which the maximum penalty is death.

Ruby, 52-year-old owner of a strip tease night club and a dance hall, shot Oswald to death Sunday as the man accused of killing Kennedy was being transferred between jails.

The shooting was viewed by newsmen, officers and a nationwide television audience.

Oswald, 24, who spent considerable time in the Soviet Union, died some time after the shooting.

Paint Vandal Sprays Cars, Mars Church

Reports on the activities of a "paint vandal" continued to pour into East Liverpool police Monday and an apparently complete list showed that a total of 11 autos were damaged and three windows of an East End church were marred.

Damage to two autos was reported to police late yesterday morning. Eight more irate motorists — including one with two cars — notified police later in the day their cars had been sprayed with white paint. In some instances, radio antennas were broken.

Damage to the Oakland Free Methodist Church at Etruria and Wedgewood St. was reported about 4 p. m. yesterday. Police were told three large windows

Auditor Bell's Home Entered, $50 Taken

About $50 in cash was stolen from the home of Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell of Highland Ave., Wellsville, Monday evening.

The family was out at the time and discovered the loss when they returned at 8:10 p. m.

Police Chief John Hepler said the money was taken from various places throughout the house.

The thief broke the glass on a rear door, reached through and unlocked it to gain entrance.

The house had been searched thoroughly. Many drawers were pulled open and had been ransacked by the thief, police said.

Johnson And De Gaulle To Meet In Washington Early Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A thaw in the chilly U.S.-French relations appears possible following the announcement that Presidents Johnson and Charles de Gaulle will meet here early next year.

The surprise announcement came from President Johnson after he had spent 18 minutes in private conference with the French president at a reception late Monday for foreign dignitaries who attended President John F. Kennedy's funeral.

Johnson, obviously plunging into the monumental tasks before him with rapidity, came out from the conference room and said, "We have decided he would come back and talk more early next year." To give it further emphasis he told newsmen: "Sure, you can quote me."

De Gaulle originally had planned to meet with Kennedy, probably in February, and arrangements had been completed. It appeared the two men swiftly came to agreement on the need for early talks to clear up standing differences between the two long-time allies.

The tall French president was given the center of attention at the reception, as he has been since he arrived Sunday for the funeral. He was in relaxed, chatty form.

Announcement of the meeting came amid general speculation on how Johnson and De Gaulle will get along.

The answer would appear to be that they will get along well personally, but any changes in policy would have to come from the American side.
De Gaulle, who regards world affairs in the broad, historic sense, is a stubborn man with fixed ideas, devoted to France. He is not malleable, as he frequently illustrated in his differences with Kennedy.

Problems confronting Kennedy's successor and the French chief of state are manifold, but some of the larger ones are De Gaulle's go-it-alone atomic defense policy, his uncooperative attitude toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (Turn to DE GAULLE, Page 6)

U.S. Pays Its Final Tribute To Kennedy

Nation Comes To Virtual Halt At Time Of Funeral

By The Associated Press
Americans everywhere paid final tribute Monday to John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Airports, railroads and communication services halted operations momentarily as the President's funeral was held in Washington.

Many businesses and schools closed, as did amusement places, most governmental offices and the stock markets.

Thousands showed up at the site of the President's assassination in Dallas, Tex. Floral arrangements carried a myriad of messages. One said, "God Forgive Us All."

At Honesdale, Pa., the bell at Grace Episcopal church tolled 46 times at noon, once for each year of Kennedy's life.

In Norfolk, Va., a bell atop the city's Public Safety Building rang 50 times, once for each state.

In an old firehouse at Keokuk, Iowa, and in the First Presbyterian church in Springfield, Ill., bells that tolled 98 years

Santa Will Be Guest Friday

Yule Parade To Draw Thousands

Thousands of Tri-State area residents are expected to line the downtown streets Friday night to watch the annual yule parade scheduled to officially usher in the Christmas season.

At least 70 units are expected to participate, almost double the number entered last year. Again this year, Santa Claus will be the guest of honor.

The units will form beginning at 5 p. m. on Bradshaw Ave. and move promptly at 6, sponsors said.

Parking will be banned on the parade route after 5 p. m., Chief Americo J. Radeschi said today.

American Wrath Moscow Propaganda Reflects Fear

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow propaganda in the wake of President Kennedy's assassination seems to reflect a feeling of dread.

In the Kremlin's reaction there is detectable a fear that the American public will turn its wrath upon communism, as such, because a man labeled a pro-Castro marxist was accused of killing the President.

Premier Khrushchev and his supporters, beset by enormous economic problems, and a deep split in the world Communist camp may be apprehensive that Soviet foreign policy could collapse before a hardened U.S. attitude.

The propaganda is full of veiled warnings. The government newspaper, Ivestia, which can be considered a voice of Khrushchev himself, said "President Kennedy's death has undoubtedly aggravated the situation in the United States."

"The struggle between sober-minded Americans and the forces of rabid reactionaries who will not miss the chance of using the situation for their own ends, will be very tense," I-vestia's editorial said Monday.

Khrushchev's policy is pegged to peaceful coexistence, as he calls it. This implies that since war is unthinkable, the two greatest powers must agree on dangerous issues. As practiced, coexistence has involved probing, testing, edging close to danger — as in Cuba and Berlin — and retreating when there is risk of a collision which could trigger war.

Kennedy confronted Khrushchev with shows of strength in Berlin and in Cuba. But the Kremlin knew Kennedy and respected him as an antagonist. President Johnson still is an unknown quantity to the Russians, and Moscow deeply suspects what it does not know or understand.

Moscow has been cautious lately. Its caution is reflected in a mild response to the humiliation and expulsion of Soviet diplomats from the Congo.

Izvestia expressed fear that the assassination may have deadly parallels with the 1933 Reichstag fire which brought Hitler to power in Germany. There, it pointed out, Communists were blamed.

3,000 Will Get Notice On City Tax Payment

Deadline's Dec. 31 On Last Installment From Individuals

Notices will go into the mail Monday for about 3,000 persons required to file individual city income tax returns, advising them that Dec. 31 is the deadline for payment of the last installment on 1963 taxes, Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today.

Wilkinson said the payments will cover the fourth quarter—October through December. The payments are due both from individuals and business and industrial operators, he pointed out.

Payments will be required from all who file individual returns except those who already have met their obligation for the full year, he explained.

The mailing does not affect persons whose entire income is subject to withholding at the source. As the employer turns over the money to the city, persons covered by withholding are not required to file reports.

Meanwhile, Wilkinson said he is preparing to file charges Friday in Municipal Court against

Will Confer Today With Dignitaries

Also Will Prepare Speech To Congress Set For Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson moved full-time into the workaday affairs of the presidency today and signaled the shift by transferring operations to the oval office of chief executives in the White House.

He was early on the job, driving into the executive mansion grounds at 8:45 a.m., just 11 hours after the close of a long day given in large part to last honors for his slain predecessor, John F. Kennedy, and to somewhat ceremonial contracts with world leaders who came to mourn.

On tap for the first day in the new office were meetings with foreign dignitaries and preparation of an address Wednesday to a joint session of Congress.

Johnson, in his first speech since becoming chief executive, made evident Monday night his belief that the Kennedy assassination puts the American system to a severe test and must prompt renewed efforts to prove that the system, despite one sniper's act, is superior to any other.

Beyond that, Johnson pledged "continuity without confusion"—a continuation of Kennedy administration programs and policy aims without any immediate shakeup of top officials that might puzzle and perturb the nation and the world.

The governors said Johnson appealed specifically for support for Kennedy's two principal domestic programs — the omnibus civil rights bill and the $11-billion tax cut.

Johnson's assessment of the needs of the day was delivered off the cuff to 35 state governors who met with him long after sunset.

This was not his final meeting (Turn to JOHNSON, Page 5)

Man Reported With Weapon Brings Scare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police raced to the roof of the 7-story Internal Revenue Service Building today in response to a report that a man had been seen on the roof with a weapon.

The roof overlooks the Justice Department entrance used by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the assassinated President.

Officers of the General Services Administration found no one on the red-tiled roof. But officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon when he inspected the roof from a tower of the adjacent Old Post Office Building.

The search apparently began when an Internal Revenue Service telephone operator called the IRS guard office with a report that someone had telephoned that a man had been seen on the roof.

The search centered on a corner of the roof overlooking the intersection of 10th Street and Constitution Avenue. Across 10th Street, seven stories down, is the door through which Robert Kennedy enters and leaves the Justice Department.

Kennedy, still in mourning over the death of his brother, had not come to the department at the time of the alert.

Police indicated they would keep an all-day watch on the roof and inspect elevators and vacant rooms in the Internal Revenue Service Building.

Places Flowers On Grave

Mrs. Kennedy Pays Night Visit To Husband's Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — The day for Jacqueline Kennedy had been a long and crushing one. But shortly before midnight she slipped out of the White House and rode through the darkness to place a sprig of flowers on her husband's new grave.

An eternal flame—placed at the head of the assassinated president's grave at her request—flickered on the silent hillside. Her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, was at her side. Only hours earlier, world dignitaries had crowded the area during graveside rites for the fallen leader.

At night, the two stood alone. After 10 minutes they went back to the executive mansion. Some of Mrs. Kennedy's plans for the future may be made known today, according to White House press secretary Pierre Salinger. She must seek a new way of life for herself and her two children.

Among the foremost questions are how long will she remain at the White House, where will she make her new home and what will become of the White House school she set up for daughter Caroline and some 20 other children.

Mrs. Kennedy, a widow at 34, never sought nor relished the public role she came to play as the wife of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

She married him in 1953, when he was a young senator from Massachusetts. When Kennedy became president in 1961, Mrs. Kennedy looked with some dismay at the life ahead.

Mrs. Kennedy, traveling abroad to 13 countries alone and with her husband, speaking French, Spanish and Italian as she went, soon carved for herself a niche of fame. She drew crowds by the thousands and became a goodwill ambassador for America on her own.

She constantly pleaded for privacy for herself and her children. John Jr., who had his third birthday Monday—the day of his father's funeral—and Caroline, who will be 6 Wednesday.

To a woman with such a keen desire for privacy, the ordeal of the funeral ceremonial for her husband seemed doubly difficult. Yet, Mrs. Kennedy not only planned many of the details to give her husband "the most distinguished funeral possible," but took a full role herself despite her heart-breaking grief.

Following the pattern of the funeral of another slain president, Abraham Lincoln, she asked that a procession march on foot to take the chief executive's body to the church funeral and she led it herself.

Toledo Man New Crime Unit Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe announced today the appointment of Martin W. Moseley Jr., 45, of Toledo as the new superintendent of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Moseley succeeds Hugh L. Leggett Sr. as head of the bureau that came under jurisdiction of the attorney general last September.

Leggett will be offered another post in the bureau, Saxbe said.

Moseley, a former Air Force bomber pilot, spent six years with the Federal Bureau of investigation and was associated for several years with the old Willys Motors Inc. and Charter Coach Corp.

He plans to move from Toledo to London, Ohio, headquarters of the bureau.

Recounts Resumed On Jefferson Ballots

STEUBENVILLE — The Jefferson County Board of Elections today resumed recounts of four close races in the Nov. 5 general election.

The office was open only briefly on Monday, and officials completed one recount in which the victory of George Rogers (R) over Andrew J. Longo (D) for Third Ward Councilman in Steubenville was affirmed.

Today, the board was to work on recounts asked by Mayor Michael Misconish of Stratton, Frank J. Scarabino of Irondale, Ann Ulrich of Stratton and Preston Jones of Toronto, apparent losers in close races.

But Just Another Face In Crowd

Oswald Called Eccentric

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
There was little about Lee Harvey Oswald to warn the world of what was coming. To those few who knew him he was recalled, if at all, as sometimes eccentric but just another face in the crowd. Some were aware he'd once left his homeland for Russia. Some saw occasional flashes of his seething contempt for the society that had nurtured him.

A Marine or two recalled Oswald's expertise with a rifle. His wife knew that he's bought a rifle. Other people knew Oswald worked in a building by which President Kennedy would pass. At least one knew Lee Harvey Oswald had shown up on the job Friday carrying a long package wrapped in brown paper. But no one knew all of these things. There was no one in Dallas—or anywhere else—to put all the pieces of Lee Harvey Oswald suddenly into place and cry out in warning: "Assassin!" And so, police say, Oswald pulled the trigger, striking back at an unsuspecting society that within minutes would know this obscure misfit all too well. But before it could learn what impelled Oswald to shoot President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Oswald himself was dead. And Monday, the same day the President was laid to rest before the mourning eyes of the world, Oswald was buried in a wooden box at Fort Worth.

Yet if his secret lies silenced in the grave, much remains to cast light on the rebel with a cause. Oswald was a poor boy. His father died before Oswald was born on Oct. 18, 1939, in New Orleans. His mother, Marguerite, who had two other sons, tried to make ends meet working in shops. The family moved frequently, living in Fort Worth, New Orleans, North Dakota and New York.

Mrs. Oswald said Lee began working at odd jobs after school at an early age. In fourth grade at a suburban Fort Worth school, Oswald was remembered by his principal, Mrs. N.M. Merrett, as "kind of smily, a boy with curly hair... very lively." While he was 13 and 14 his family lived in New York City. His report card had become less promising. General grades: barely passing. Dependability: cooperation and self-control: unsatisfactory.

Back to New Orleans where classmates at Beauregard Junior High remembered Oswald as a loner, always getting into fights. But when he advanced to high school, he scored way above average in vocabulary and reading. And what was this solitary, belligerent boy of 15 reading? Karl Marx.

He said later he became interested in Marxism after reading a pamphlet a lady handed him about Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, executed Communist spies. Later Oswald moved to North Dakota.

"I could see the impoverishment of the masses before my own eyes in my mother," he said years later to a reporter. "I thought the worker's life could be better."

At 17 he enlisted in the Marines. After Oswald was sent to Japan in July 1957, he was court-martialed twice, once for having an unregistered pistol (He lost his PFC, stripe for that) and another time for using profanity to a non-com.

After he got back to the States in 1958, Oswald asked to be discharged so he could support his mother. A year later he was put on active reserve status.

A month later — In October 1959—he was in Moscow. "I've made up my mind, I'm through," he said and applied for Russian citizenship. "Capitalism has passed its peak," he told a reporter. "I've seen poor Niggers...and that was a lesson. People hate because they've been told to hate. It's the fashion to hate people in the United States."

The Soviet government wouldn't grant him citizenship, but he was allowed to remain as an alien resident. He drifted into factory work in Minsk where he eventually married a Russian Pharmacist, Marina Nicholaeva.

Dedication Set For Windows In Irondale Church

A special service for dedicating the new stained glass windows of the Irondale United Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday at 11 a. m.

The Rev. John Little, general presbyter of the Mahoning Presbytery and a former pastor of the Riverside Presbyterian Church of Wellsville, will give the dedicatory sermon.

Presiding will be the Rev. Joseph Varner, pastor. Lunch will follow in the fellowship room.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spak are visiting a daughter, Miss Katharine Spak, of Washington. They will later fly to Chicago to visit another daughter, Miss Margaret Spak, an airline hostess. They also plan to visit her brother, John Miklus of Salt Lake City, Utah, and his brother, William Spak of West Covina, Calif., former Irondale resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of East Liverpool visited Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russell have named their infant son, Richard Lewis.

Bicycle Mishap Injures City Boy

A youth hurt on a bicycle and a boy injured in a fall on glass were among four area young people treated Monday at City Hospital.

John Weyand, 17, of Henry Ave. suffered abrasions of the left shoulder in a bicycle mishap, and was treated at 7:20 p. m.

Kenneth Christy, 10, son of Frank Christy of Glenmoor, received a laceration of the scalp in a fall on a piece of glass.

James Lockhart, 3, son of Ralph Lockhart of Glenmoor, suffered a puncture wound of the scalp when he fell from a high stool which tumbled onto his head.

Thomas Miller, 2, son of Thomas Miller, 905 May St., received a cut lip in a fall down steps.

Continuance Granted For Burglary Charge

Two allow time for summoning deputy sheriffs to testify, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Wednesday at 9 a. m. in a preliminary hearing for Lonzo Williams of Midland, charged with burglary of a building Oct. 18 at Lake Marwin.

The judge pointed out the case originally was set for Monday, but the court was closed yesterday because of the funeral of President John F. Kennedy. The sheriff's department joined police here in the investigation because the alleged entry occurred outside the city limits.

The charge was filed by Dr. F. D. Irwin, operator of Lake Marwin. Lt. W. E. McDaniel said Williams is accused of implication in an entry in which a phonograph was stolen and vending machines were looted.

County Man 'Poor' From Auto's Fumes

SALEM — A Salem man was in "poor" condition today at Salem City Hospital, the victim of carbon monoxide fumes which claimed the life of a woman companion in a car near Leetonia sometime Sunday night.

Apolonio DeLacruz, 137 W. 2nd St., and Kathryn Funkhauser, 38, of W. 6th St. were discovered in the auto about a mile and a half west of Leetonia Monday morning at 10:30 by a telephone lineman and two hunters.

DeLacruz, employee of the Deming Pump Co., was behind the wheel of the auto, the gasoline tank of which was empty and the ignition turned on, as was the heater.

Dr. William Kolozsi, Columbiana County coroner, ruled the death of the woman accidental.

DeLacruz, 37, has not regained consciousness, authorities said.

Witnesses said he was slumped against the door of the car when found, and the woman was lying on the seat with her head on his lap, a cloth coat covering her feet.

I Killed, I Injured When Hit By Train

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — William J. Guess, 55, was killed and Homer R. Evener, 57, was critically injured Monday night when they were struck by a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train at a crossing in Lancaster. Both were residents of the Fairfield County Home.

The train's engineer told authorities the men were sitting beside the tracks and apparently were struck by the engine's footboard.

Man To Face Grand Jury In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Perry Zinzick, 45, charged with murder in the shooting of Mrs. Lillian Greer, 46, was bound over to the grand jury Monday following a Police Court hearing.

Mrs. Greer's body was found Saturday under newly poured concrete in the basement of her home. Police said she had been a waitress in Zinzick's tavern he operated next to her home.

The Man We Remember

As we pay our last respects to John F. Kennedy and ask forgiveness for the terrible violence among us that caused his life to be destroyed. We are learning something about ourselves.

The sad introspection of these last few days may have brought out facts about our nature that have been shrouded in uncertainty.

Such as the fact, for instance, that our late President had earned esteem as a man in a way that could not be reflected in the ways used to gauge his success as a politician.

HIS DEATH is mourned with special poignancy in all quarters of this nation that put high value on intellectual development.

He scrupulously avoided the shabby political device of appealing to anti-intellectualism. He was proud of his own background of learning, grateful for the heritage of mental attainment to advance the national interest.

He had earned special gratitude for his deft handling of religious prejudice in the United States. As our first Roman Catholic president, he revealed what never should have needed to be revealed that the religious beliefs of a public leader are his personal concern and not part of the public's business.

He practiced his religious devotion in a way that has eliminated religious prejudice in presidential politics. No one could have done a better job in this respect.

HE EXEMPLIFIED in his public manifestation of love for his children and his wife the kind of family devotion that is the core of all human virtue. He did this in a way so unaffected and natural no one ever doubted his sincerity.

It was an uplifting experience for both old and young Americans to see the attractive Kennedy family in the executive mansion and to admire their President and his lovely lady as the exemplars of family life.

His countrymen placed special value on President Kennedy's clear perspective on his acts. If it be the true measure of a man's humility that he must retain his sense of humor, here was a man of extraordinary stature.

He retained objectivity about himself, his intimates, his associates and all public matters on which he gave judgment. This often made him a target of criticism for those who would have preferred a narrower, more emotional attitude. But in the long view it made him a candidate for the distinction earned by former Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain — an "unflappable" head of state.

THE TWO-PARTY political mechanism by which our nation is governed exists side by side but separately from the emotional forces that give the American people their national nature.

We are political partisans only when dealing with partisan matters. Beyond these matters we are united by adherence to the admired standards of human behavior.

John F. Kennedy had encountered great difficulty in his efforts to cope with the two-party political mechanism—difficulty intrinsic in the nature of the mechanism at the moment in history he came to the presidency.

But as we acknowledge our affection for him at this sorrowful moment of his passing, it is obvious he had earned and was given an extra measure of his countrymen's love.

In this he transcended the frustrations of politics. He became first of all a man and only secondarily a politician.

It is for this that he will be remembered.

Have we not all learned from his tragic death that no more horrible thing can happen than the cancerous growth of hatred that can cause one man to destroy another over a difference in politics?

Our Hope For The Future

One radiant light cut across the blackness of grief in the nation's Capitol Sunday.

That light was Caroline Kennedy, a child whose conduct during the ceremony in the Capitol rotunda was not only the highest tribute to a noble father and mother but a reflection of their own finest qualities.

The character already outlined, the self-control already developed in this little girl who will be 6 years old Wednesday is indicative of the standards her parents set for their children.

SUCH TRAINING is something not for sale to the wealthiest families in the world. It is a privilege granted and a responsibility demanded of all parents, rich and poor, throughout the world.

Like men and women everywhere who must work and bear other responsibilities, the President and Mrs. Kennedy could not always be with their children. But they set the standards. They provided the love and all the other intangible qualities which make it possible to achieve those standards.

ONLY A HOME can plant the seeds of integrity, dedication and sacrifice that enable a man to become a President.

The Difference

The torture of conscience that continued throughout the Eichmann trial may be repeated in the case of the Vienna policeman who arrested Anne Frank in Amsterdam in 1944.

Due to publication of "The Diary of Anne Frank" and the powerful motion picture adapted from the book, this 12-year-old Jewish girl has become the symbolic martyr of the hundreds of thousands of Jews methodically murdered when the Germans went berserk under Adolf Hitler.

She stands for everything poignant in an era of terror for her people — the soul-destroying suspense for the victims of the campaign to murder all Jews and the soul-destroying lust of the murderers.

But what could be more futile and frustrating afterward than to track down the punks and pimple-heads who carried on the mechanics of this mass assassination?

IT IS POINTED out that the Vienna policeman was run to ground by the same man who traced Adolf Eichmann and other Nazis who escaped prosecution in World War II.

The policeman, Karl Silberhauser, is charged with no crime on the face of his arrest of Anne Frank. But the fact he has been found makes him potentially susceptible to charges if evidence is found he went further than merely arresting people.

This was the pattern of the case against Eichmann — not merely that he did what he could not deny he did, but that he believed so ardently in what he was ordered to do that he threw himself into his grisly project of exterminating Jews.

That was the aim of the prosecution — to show Eichmann was a zealot. That will be the aim of any prosecution aimed at Silberhauser — to show he not only carried out orders like a cop but believed in what he was doing, even if it meant sending 12-year-old children to al-model behavior and understanding far beyond her years that little Caroline Kennedy has displayed.

She is a glowing symbol of the responsibility that rests very solemnly on the shoulders of every mother and father in the United States, to make certain that the next generation give a far better account of itself.

Russ Heddleston

Funeral services were held here Monday afternoon for Russell C. Heddleston, who died at the age of 85.

His name probably means little to most of the younger people of the community, but to those who can rightfully be called "old-timers" it could not help but bring to mind a man who was active in many things over the years.

While his grocery business occupied much of his time, Mr. Heddleston had many outside interests — politics and Kiwanis Club activities, to name a few. He was also a former city postmaster and city councilman.

The Review of Feb. 10, 1923, had this to say of Mr. Heddleston: "Probably no person in East Liverpool enjoys being of service to the community more than does Russell C. Heddleston."

most certain death in concentration camps.

WHERE DOES this leave functionaries in general when they — we — act under orders to carry out public policies that may come under hostile review at a later date?

We — they — survive in this life by working for other people. We bend our minds to their will. We become members of the team. We pass the loyalty test. Some refer to this derisively, sneering about "gray flannel minds," "organization minds," that sort of thing. It's a quandary, because there's a paradox involved.

The harder we try, the likelier we are to fail. And if we do our trying in a public function, the likelier we are to be stuck on a pin and investigated someday if the outfit we work for loses a war or an election.

We don't like anyone who stood for the doctrine of mass murder under the Nazis. But the difference between a cop who arrested Anne Frank and someone who stood by while he did it is not substantial.

It's only the difference between being the individual who tied the rope in a lynching and the many who watched the victim die.

This 'n That

The world population at the opening of the Christian era was only about a quarter of a billion. It did not reach a billion until about 1850. Population growth is accelerating at a spectacular rate. Today the world population is over three billion, and according to estimates, will double in about 40 more years.

Although most history books have the Pilgrims landing at Plymouth Rock in 1630 as the first large group to settle there, legend has it that Eric the Red and his Norsemen saw the state of Massachusetts in the year 1000.

Picking Up The Torch

Will Each Of Us Get The Warning?

By David Lawrence

Thomas Gray, in his classic Elegy of two centuries ago, wrote: "The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power, and all that beauty, all that wealth, all that wealth'er gave, awaits alike the inevitable hour."

While life on earth is finite, neither the American people nor the peoples of the David Lawrence rest of the world were prepared last Friday to see the sudden transfer of presidential power in the United States that came in the wake of a hideous and unforgivable crime.

John F. Kennedy was a sincere man, a conscientious man — a public servant with a high sense of fidelity to his office and to the people. How can we explain the abrupt separation of the President at age 46 from service to his country? Why was he removed overnight from the international councils in which he sought so earnestly to carry forward the task of averting a nuclear war?

Pope Paul VI uttered in Rome his prayerful wish that the death of President Kennedy "may not hinder the cause of peace but may serve as a sacrifice and as an example for the good of all mankind."

God has taken from us a man in the prime of his life, with tasks left unfinished, as a disheartened and distraught world goes into mourning. Could the meaning be that we who are left behind have not sensed the neglect of responsibility by peoples to find ways to eradicate inside each country the perils to human life, including the ravages of crime?

WAS THIS God's way of serving warning to us all that the erratic behavior of the mentally disturbed among us and of the delinquents in our society can no longer be given just cursory attention?

Why are rifles and revolvers sold to persons of dangerous impulse whose records betray symptoms or signs of mental attitudes that can lead to the destruction of their fellow men? Crime in America is growing but there is a tendency to shrug it off as merely a consequence of an increasing population.

Government security measures now will come in for constructive criticism. But many a president disregards the need for some of the extra precautions. The Secret Service itself is powerless to do all that it wishes to do. If a president, for instance, insists on riding in an open automobile while campaigning in big cities, can not the technicians invent some transparent canopy for the vehicle that would really be bullet-proof?

The man arrested for the crime in Dallas—Lee Harvey Oswald—went to the Soviet Union in 1959, renounced his allegiance to the United States, and gave back his passport. Yet later his trip back to this country was financed by the government of the United States itself. He then engaged in activities of a pro-Castro committee and he distributed literature which showed his sympathies with Marxism and Communism.

Here was an erratic individual whose record was known to our government authorities in every detail. Should such a man have been permitted to buy lethal weapons?

THE WHOLE WORLD was shocked by the crime. Many a person, including this writer, has been sick at heart these last few days over the act of the despicable criminal.

It was not, however, the first of such tragedies. There now have been four assassinations of presidents in office in this country. Each incident occurred in a public place.

This student was a public school student in Buffalo, N.Y., when President William McKinley was assassinated there just after finishing a public speech at the Pan American Exposition. There were few telephones then and, of course, no radio or television. It was two hours after the event that the nation learned of the tragedy as newspaper extras flashed their big headlines to a stunned people. All of us were bewildered and depressed by what happened. Mr. McKinley lingered on for several days before he passed away. The assassin was an anarchist—the forerunner of the present-day Communist subversive. He later was electrocuted.

While danger of other possible assassinations was recognized thereafter, public men began not many years later to take chances again. It has long been regarded by police experts as almost impossible to protect a president and other prominent figures against snipers firing from windows or high buildings.

IT ILL BEHOOVES anyone to attribute a motivation for such crimes as that in Dallas to any group or faction or political party in this or any other country. Each of the four assassinations of American presidents was the deed of a deranged man with a particular grievance of his own, his disordered mind bent on vengeance.

Lee Harvey Oswald was dishonorably discharged from the United States Marines in 1959. In January 1962 he wrote to John Connally, now governor of Texas but formerly secretary of the Navy, a letter in which he said, "I shall employ all means to right this gross mistake or injustice."

Gov. Connally was seriously wounded in the same burst of shots that killed President Kennedy. The murder of Oswald himself on Sunday was the passionate act of another vengeful man.

The tragic ending of the career of John F. Kennedy will serve to remind all of us that, while man is mortal and faces "the inevitable hour," our human society within the span of our lives can do much more than has been done to isolate the mentally unbalanced who are permitted to buy rifles and pistols and roam at will menacing citizens on city streets and in their homes everywhere as crime produces in America the highest number of victims in all our history.

"A Symbol For Young America"

I remember myself three years ago writing in the same column of this newspaper, to speak out for the young new president, J. F. Kennedy, because I felt someone had attacked him for his crisp, enthusiastic beginning in office.

Now at the end of this three-year period, which has been crowded with the most serious matters, I feel forced to speak out again, the final time in his behalf, because he has again been attacked and this time fatally.

Yes, the incredible, bewildering, insane cry that John Fitzgerald Kennedy is assassinated is true. A bolt of lightning might well have struck us. . . the brain stops thinking, the heart ceases to beat, even the circulation of the blood in our veins is stilled. All are stunned—only the tears flow and no one tries to hide them or brush them away.

AT SUCH a time no one is able to express in words the true feelings. It is no use to try. Right now we do not know the true measure of the great loss which the nation has suffered. But in the quietness of death, while the whole nation grieves in spirit beside the grave of our president, so young and greatly beloved, we must remember, and must strive to learn the lesson of this great sacrifice.

However cruel it may sound, we must realize that every one of us shares the guilt of this tragedy. We have been too lazy and ignorant to express our highest feelings. We fear the loss of popularity if we step out on the good way, we are afraid to speak the right, we are too casual to be enthusiastic, too sophisticated to be patriotic. Indeed, poison has grown among us, hiding murderous evil. We have been too soft to fight this evil. We must give this deep thought.

We must note this magnificent example. . . that it is possible to put aside selfishness, to put aside the safety and security of a wealthy life in order to work for the country and for the nation. We see that it is possible to use knowledge and wisdom to protect world peace and human rights, and that it is not a shame to be a dynamic and enthusiastic patriot. Furthermore we are shown that it is possible to have—beside all of this—a strong family life full of love and gladness, proving that as much love as we spend so much more we gain, and that virtues bring the Lord's blessings.

NOW AMERICANS, this fighter for the new frontier is no longer among us. He loved his country, this freedom-loving nation and its human rights, so deeply that he gave himself to it. In war time he fought for it. As president he devoted his excellent talent, his wisdom, his political skill and his human love to it. He never feared death while protecting his country. He proved this first in the last war and now finally again in fulfilling this sad destiny that robbed us of the light of his shining life.

The nation is mourning. We feel the hopeless darkness of the grave but we shall not see the depth of grief, for our leader is watching and guiding us from above. With his assassination he became a martyr for his country. Having been aware of the constant danger he faced he also filled the role of hero. As we pray for this gallant one we have lost, let us also give thanks to the Almighty for the time during which this brilliant young American was the president of the United States.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy must become the symbol for young America to follow. Here is an ideal, the modern American with superb education, strong Christianity, devoted patriotism, enthusiasm for liberty and deep love for human rights. We must follow in his footsteps and strive to be "better Americans" as he urged us to do—so that his sacrifice may not be in vain.

May God save and comfort his family and the nation.

"Where Does The Blame Rest?"

Upon hearing the news that President John Fitzgerald Kennedy was assassinated, the world was shocked.

This has been stated in many ways, most of them being that the people could not believe that such a crime could or would be committed — but it has been done. Where does the blame rest? Does it fall on the shoulders of one small, unimportant, abnormal killer? Certainly not. It rests, and quite heavily, upon every citizen of this country.

A country that allows fanaticism to thrive in a society that monopolizes freedom. A country that supports every beneficial doctrine important to humanity. A country in which an emphatic hope for complete freedom and unopposed democracy has been murdered by a single bullet.

A carefully aimed shot that could crush the dreams of all Americans and which will, certainly change the history of the world. To what extent it will do so, only the future can tell.

I HAVE NO solution to this problem and am not proposing that I ever will, for I do not believe that any man can solve a problem that has plagued this and many other nations since their beginnings.

This incident has brought to reality the presence of this problem in a more horrible and vivid way than ever before. It is immensely important to our society that the people of this land will long remember and greatly note our tragic loss. It cannot be denied that this state has advanced in its ideals. But have we progressed in our morals? This imposing question can be answered by no one except the citizens of this nation. But first I suggest that they evaluate themselves.

WHEN I FIRST heard of the assassination, I was afraid to venture into the streets of such a republic, where this act had taken place.

As a future voter and active citizen of this country, I only hope that before I breathe my last, I will be permitted to see these United States stand united upon the principles that all men are created equal, that political parties are merely a means to insure a democracy and that a belief, no matter how strong it may be, is only an opinion. I thought that our country was nearing such a goal until that fateful Friday November 22, 1963.

Virtually all the damaged autos were owned by residents of the 1600 and 1700 block on Holliday St., East End.

Joyce Swogger, 1616 Holliday St., told police the windshields of both her autos were sprayed with paint.

Others who reported identical damage were: James Cregar, 1600 Holliday; Blair Frazier, 1710 Holliday; George Moidel, 1703 Holliday, and John Fredrick, 1711 Holliday St.

In three instances, radio antennas were broken in addition to the paint vandalism. These cases were reported by Clarence Carver, 1712 Holliday; James Exley, 1633 Holliday, and Helen Duffy, 1623 Holliday.

The first two cases of the vandalism, reported earlier yesterday, damaged the cars of Anthony Frank, 533 Wedgewood St., and Vernon Allison, 1534 Globe St.

All 11 previously received notices warning them to comply or they would be halted into court, the commissioner said.

Approximately 60 have been brought into court in the last few months on similar charges.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff warned about a week ago that the court will not continue to show leniency to alleged violators. Since the public voted Nov. 5 to retain the tax, "the time for being lenient with tax-dodgers is past," the court commented on one occasion.

In earlier cases, defendants were released on payment of costs once the taxes were paid.

Johnson

ing of the busy day. His schedule was topped off by a late evening session with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and the Council of Economic Advisers. This meeting took up the tax cut proposal and the broad outlines of the federal budget that will go to Congress in January.

Johnson headed for his home in the Spring Valley section of the city at 10:45 p.m., giving every sign that, even before moving into the White House, he was operating under a full head of steam.

For today, Johnson lined up conferences with some of the many foreign dignitaries who flew to Washington for the Kennedy funeral.

Johnson arranged to visit with the new British prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home; with the president of the Philippines, Diosdado Macapagal, and with the new West German chancellor, Ludwig Erhard.

The President saw all three—and many more—at a reception Monday night at the State Department, before he met with the governors.

In addition to greeting all foreign delegates to the Kennedy funeral, Johnson spent 18 minutes privately with President Charles de Gaulle of France, eight minutes with Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada and 12 minutes with Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda of Japan.

Johnson told the governors that at his meeting with De Gaulle, "we did not finish" the conversation "so we have another meeting set up for early in the year when he comes back to this country."

In this offhand way Johnson announced for the first time that De Gaulle, who has been taking sharp issue with the United States for nearly a year, would make the American visit he had planned before Kennedy's death.

Speaking to the governors, Johnson said: "Circumstances over which I had no control brought me into this position that I occupy tonight. The difficulties and the tribulations are great and this is the time when our whole system is on trial—not just the Republican party and the Democratic party but the American system of government."

He went on to speak of the often-superior resources of the Soviet Union — in population, farmlands and water.

Then he said: "The thing that is really to determine whether we win or lose in this struggle of philosophies is how well our system works. We think we have the best system."

Taking account of the inevitable transition between the Kennedy administration and his own, Johnson said: "I think continuity without confusion has got to be our password and has to be the key to our system."

He said he would tell Congress "that we intend to honor the commitments we have made at home and abroad" under Kennedy and that "I understand my own limitations, but I am going to do the best I can with your help and God's."

Johnson asked the governors again to help him, saying it was vitally important. "I need your heart and your hand," he said.

The state executives gave him a standing ovation when he finished.

"I hope we can have unity in this country," said Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

LISBON — Mrs. Laura K. Waldon, 60, of Brilliant forfeited a $15 appearance bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's court Monday on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way as the result of a collision. Police said she turned in front of the car of Eugene Sahli of North Lima Monday at 6:15 p. m. on the Public Square, causing moderate damages to both cars.

ago for another assassinated president, Abraham Lincoln, rang out again.

New York's bustling Times Square came to a standstill at noon. Pedestrians stood reverently, heads bowed, as two Boy Scouts blew Taps from atop the Hotel Astor marquee. Traffic had been diverted from the area.

In the cathedral-like confines of New York's Grand Central Station, 4,000 commuters watched silently as a huge television screen carried the funeral.

Navy warships in San Francisco Bay and the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, docked in Bayonne, N.J., boomed 21-gun salutes. Twenty-one guns were fired at noon at the Virginia Military Institute, followed by a 50-gun salute at 5:30 p.m.

As Taps sounded at 3:06 p.m. EST, at Arlington National Cemetery, The Associated Press silenced its news wires.

Telegraph facilities of Radio Corp. of America and Western Union halted messages for several minutes at noon and at 1 p.m., respectively.

Railroads stopped all trains, wherever they were, for the one minute past the noon hour. At Narberth, Pa., a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor, Harry R. McCallister, played Taps aboard a stopped train while 200 passengers stood with heads bowed.

In Austin, Tex., several hundred mourners in front of the state Capitol were told by Judge W. A. Morrison of the Court of Criminal Appeals: "We hang our heads in shame because it happened in the Lone Star State."

Face Gloomy Week

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and his wife today faced a gloomy week, steeped in grief over the pointless slaying of their son, President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy flew back to Cape Cod from Washington Monday night in an Air Force jet after attending the funeral of the late President.

The former ambassador to Great Britain, who suffered a stroke nearly two years ago, remained at his summer home. He was secluded in his own second - floor quarters during the funeral but watched some of the rites and procession to Arlington National Cemetery on television, a family source reported.

Use Boron with Ice-gard for positive protection against fuel line freeze-up in any Ohio weather

When fuel line freeze-up happens, you stop cold! Gasoline can't get to your engine because ice has blocked your fuel line! This ice is caused by water condensed from the air in your gas tank that has worked into a low point of your fuel line and frozen solid. Your car will probably have to be towed away to a heated garage. And then you'll have to wait... and wait... until your fuel line thaws out!

You can prevent this serious winter driving by using Boron Gasoline with its special Ice-gard ingredient! This added Ice-gard ingredient keeps water from freezing so ice cannot form. Boron with Ice-gard flows freely to your engine! Your very first tankful of Boron with Ice-gard protects you against a frozen fuel line! And continuous use keeps that protection going strong!

For years, drivers have protected themselves against fuel line freeze-up by buying fuel line anti-icers and adding them to their gasoline.

Regular use of Boron with Ice-gard makes this unnecessary, because Ice-gard is already in Boron! You get positive, automatic protection against fuel line freeze-up. And you get it at no extra cost!

The Standard Oil Company (Sohio)

Boron with Ice-gard eliminates the need to add anti-icers to your gasoline!

Funeral

spared all punishment and taken into paradise." There was no eulogy, but Auxiliary Bishop Philip M. Hannan spoke of the President's ideals and aspirations and read from his inaugural address in ringing tones.

"May the angels lead you into paradise" the choir sang as the cardinal led the procession from the church. He and the priests stepped aside so the honor guard could bring the casket in full view of the thousands lining the streets outside. As it was placed on the caisson for the journey to Arlington, John raised his hand and saluted his dad.

The sun was mellow as the funeral procession moved across the Potomac River. Slowly the six matched gray horses drawing the caisson made their way to the grave. As Mrs. Kennedy stepped from her limousine, ruffles and flourishes were sounded, then "The Star-Spangled Banner." A wail sounded from pipers of the Air Force Band.

The grave was piled with flowers, although Mrs. Kennedy had asked that none be sent.

The last honor guard for the President carried the casket slowly to his final resting place. At that moment there was a roar. Air Force and Navy planes — 50 in all for the 50 states—flew over in a salute. In a moving tribute, Air Force 1, the presidential jet, swept over.

Cardinal Cushing began reciting the burial prayers. He asked that the soul of the President be made the companion of the holy angels above; he asked that the Lord grant eternal peace to the soul of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and the Kennedy brothers approached the casket. Riflemen fired three shots and a bugler sounded "Taps." The flag over the casket was folded and given to the 34-year-old widow.

She knelt again to say a prayer and lit the eternal flame.

But De Gaulle never hesitates to make it clear that in any showdown France would come quickly to America's side.

Johnson has the reputation of being a seasoned, astute politician who knows how to work with people and get them to work for him. He also has the reputation of being a compromiser, at least in the realm of domestic politics.

Union Drafts Pay Requests

Unionized municipal employees Monday night appointed a committee to present its requests on wages and working conditions to Council.

The committee was named when Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, held its monthly meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Ken McCarty, president, will head the committee. It also includes John Trimboli of Youngstown, the local's district representative, John Cornell, Leonard Nichols, James Cregar and Mrs. Catherine Martin.

The committee said it may seek a session with Council soon to discuss proposals for 1964.

The annual Christmas dinner was scheduled Dec. 14 at 6 p. m. at the home of American Legion Post 374.

Trimboli initiated Carl Duke of the incinerator department as a new member.

It was announced that Mrs. Martin and Robert Kelly are representing the local at week schools for union officers in Youngstown.

Advanced a week because of Christmas, next meeting will be Dec. 16 at the hotel.

Wellsville FOP, Affiliate Elect

New officers were elected by the Wellsville Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and its civilian affiliate, FOP Associates Lodge, at a joint meeting Monday night at Platt's Tea Room.

New FOP officers are: Patrolman Edwin James, president; Capt. Pete Trainer, vice president; Patrolman Robert Wellington, re-elected secretary; Leonard Hephner, an extra policeman, treasurer; Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford, trustee; and Deputy Sheriff Jay Carter, chaplain.

New FOPA officers include Don Montgomery, president; Bernard Ference, vice president; and Glenn Mathess, secretary - treasurer.

A joint installation banquet will be held in January. The date has not been set.

60-Day Term Given Man On Obscure Law

An auto theft charge against a Wellsville man who allegedly attempted to steal the car of an East Liverpool fireman Monday night was dismissed today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who then sentenced the defendant to a 60-day term in County Jail on an obscure state law that appeared to match the evidence.

Roy J. Sprouse, 1106 White St., was before the judge on a charge he stole the car of Fireman Ralph Woods about 8:02 last night while the fireman was on duty at Central Station.

But after hearing the evidence, the judge dismissed the theft charge, declaring that a defendant must actually move a vehicle to furnish the grounds for an auto theft charge.

However, Sprouse went to the County Jail when he pleaded guilty to the substitute charge filed by Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, which covers starting the motor of another's auto or shifting the gears "without authority."

Woods related that he was on duty last night shortly after 8 when he happened to look out the window of the fire station and noted that the lights were on in his auto and the motor was running.

He said he shouted to Patrolman J. A. Walsh, who was passing by. Together they took Sprouse into custody. Sprouse had started the motor of the car and attempted to back it out of the parking space, but the car stalled, the fireman said.

Earlier, Sprouse was fined $10 and costs on an intoxication charge.

Officers said when arrested Sprouse told the fireman and policeman: "I'm drunk; take me to Wellsville."

Auto Blaze Put Out By Review Employee

A fire in the car of a Newell area woman was extinguished quickly this morning while the 1958 auto was parked in the lot of the Potters Bank & Trust Co. at E. 4th and Washington Sts.

Robert Conroy, circulation manager of The Review, used an extinguisher to quell the blaze in the auto owned by Mrs. Helen L. Smith of Midway Trailer Court on Route 66.

Firemen were called at 10:08 a. m. but the blaze was out on arrival. Firemen said the first alarm they received was to the Potters Savings & Loan Co. lot on Broadway.

President To Address Congress Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson's address to a joint session of Congress Wednesday will be carried live on all television and radio networks.

The program begins at 12:30 p. m. on the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. The Mutual Broadcasting System will carry the message on radio only.

Brought On By Assassination

Economy Seeks To Shake Off Shock And Indecision

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's economy seeks today to shake off the shock and indecision that followed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Whether the economy can regain its vitality remains to be seen. Many business economists think it will.

Shops, banks and security houses that were closed all or part of Monday, out of respect of the President, resume business today.

Businessmen will carefully watch sales, the stock markets and other indicators this week.

Economists say businessmen tend to put off decisions after a shock like this, partly to wait until their own minds clear, partly to figure out government plans and partly to see how the consumer is reacting.

Many seem confident there will merely be a temporary lull.

"When the uncertainty and unsettlement are over, it will be seen that the basic economic situation is no different than before," said Roy L. Reiersen, senior vice president for economics of the Bankers Trust Co., New York.

Some say Christmas could help carry the economy over the rough spots. They think people will go ahead with holiday spending, if only out of momentum, and this should quicken general confidence.

Candle Ceremony

Jaycees Hold Services For President Kennedy

A memorial service to President John F. Kennedy was held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the Travelers Hotel.

The program opened with Scripture reading by Ed Adkins, followed by prayer by Ben Webster.

Larry Walton, chaplain, gave a brief eulogy and conducted a ceremony during which each member lighted a small candle from larger ones draped in black in the center of the tables. Silent prayer followed.

The Jaycee banner also was draped in black. Twenty-eight attended.

Dale Kidd, vice president, conducted business. Paul Grafton was named chairman of a committee to obtain gifts for boys from Columbiana County who are in the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

Jim Harris, East Liverpool High School basketball coach, was guest speaker. He discussed new rules to be enforced this year. He also reviewed the process for selecting a team from all the boys who try out.

Harris was introduced by Adkins, program chairman. Guests introduced were Jerry Adkins, Tom Babb and Gary White.

Reports on the Christmas parade Friday night were given by Jerry Wines, Bill Devon, John Parsons and Vincent Laneve.

Laneve also asked for suggestions for a possible location for the annual Home Show to be held in the spring.

Jack Woomer reported the Bosses Night banquet will be held in January. The date will be announced.

Reports also were heard on Issue No. 1, an orientation meeting, Halloween dance, November All - State meeting, Blue Flame festival, the Crucible tour, voters information booths, District 20 meeting, the Saturday night teen-age dances, and the Jaycee Clown activities.

Arbitrators Bare Ruling In Rail Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal arbitrators announced today a ruling Congress hopes will break the long railroad work rules dispute and prevent the renewal of a nationwide strike threat.

The ruling of the seven-man arbitration board under an emergency law passed by Congress last August will be binding on both the railroads and the five operating unions involved.

But if the two sides cannot then get together and settle other issues which Congress led to negotiations, a new strike threat could arise again Feb. 25 when the law expires. That could lead to further congressional action.

The arbitrators' ruling involves the jobs of approximately 50,000 union members, mostly members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The other unions are the AFL-CIO Switchmen's Union of North America and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

The arbitrators' ruling was scheduled to be filed in U.S. District Court in late afternoon. Two issues before the arbitrators are the size of engine crews and the size of train crews.

The railroads contend that the firemen and some other train crewmen are no longer needed on modern diesel yard and freight engines.

The unions argue that eliminating the jobs of firemen and cutting down on the number of other train crewmen would jeopardize safe operation of the trains.

Congress ordered the two sides to negotiate other issues, such as wage structure, employment security and changes in working conditions, but there has been no reported progress.

Special Award Given To Woodbine Laundry

The Woodbine Laundry, with plants in East End and downtown, received a special award from the Ohio Industrial Commission at the 49th annual convention of the Ohio Dry Cleaners Association Sunday at Toledo.

James Walker, president of Woodbine, said the award was for operating the greatest number of manhours without a any lost time due to accidents.

The only firm to receive this special award in its category, it was presented by John H. Moore, safety advisor for the Department of Safety and Hygiene. Woodbine was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. A. Richard Walker.

4-H News

Presentation of recognition awards to outstanding members will highlight the annual Columbiana County 4-H Band banquet Saturday at 7 p. m. in the McKinley Room of the Lisbon VFW Post home.

The Rev. William Woodall of the Leetonia First Presbyterian Church will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Lester Smith and Mrs. Virgil Whinnery, both of Salem area, comprise the band committee in charge of the banquet, according to Bob Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work.

Twenty-four players were named in the National League's most valuable player poll but not one catcher drew recognition from the 20 writers who voted.

Mrs. Frances Bussard was elected president at a meeting of Crystal Club of Chapter 18, Order of Eastern Star, Friday night at the Masonic Temple, following a coverdish dinner attended by 25.

Other officers named were Mrs. Gladys Keys, vice president; Mrs. Alma Ebert, secretary - treasurer, and Mrs. Ruth Mackey, reporter. Mrs. Pearl Capehart was in charge of the election.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Blanche Sevey, retiring president. Mrs. Gladys Gibbons was received as a new member.

Plans were made for a Christmas coverdish dinner the evening of Dec. 27 at 6:30 o'clock at the temple. A $1 gift exchange also is planned.

The committee will include Mrs. Mackey, chairman, Mrs. Irene Mast, Mrs. Esther Hadfield and Mrs. Hilda Laufenberger. Entertainment will be under the supervision of Mrs. Jennie Mackall, Mrs. Bee Boughner and Mrs. Neva Stone.

Table decorations were in keeping with Thanksgiving including a large paper turkey flanked with small candles and figurines of pilgrims.

The committee was comprised of Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman, Mrs. Mildred Copestick and Mrs. Lillian Greenawalt. Guests were Miss Maryann Boughner and Mrs. Marguerite McBane.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Rayl, 1416 Dorothy Ave., Pleasant Heights, observed their 30th wedding anniversary Saturday evening at their home with members of the family.

A two-tiered cake centered the buffet table. Rayl is employed at Homer Laughlin China Co. Plant No. 4. Both are members of the Bradshaw Ave. Church of Christ.

They have two sons, Fred L. Rayl and Pvt. William E. Rayl, stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; three daughters, Mrs. Loretta Haney of East Liverpool, Mrs. Mary E. Milewski of Jacksonville, N. C., and Miss Rosella Rayl, at home. There are four grandchildren.

Plans were outlined to sponsor a rummage sale Dec. 5-7 at the rear of City Market when members of the Pride of the Valley Council No. 4, Daughters of America, met Friday night at the VFW Hall. Mrs. Mary Wines, councilor, presided.

Mrs. Ola Weaver is chairman of the fund-raising project. She announced that donations may be left at the market or listed by calling her at EV 7-0260. Members were asked to donate any time they can during the three day sale.

During business, second nomination of officers was featured. Election will be held Dec. 13, when a 6 o'clock Christmas dinner will precede the meeting. A gift exchange also will be held.

Robert Arnold was elected president, succeeding Carl Schneider, at a meeting of the Crusaders Class of the First Methodist Church Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Goodman of Lang St.

Also named were Frank Hilliard, vice president; Mrs. Joann Hilliard, treasurer, and Mrs. Esther Thorne, secretary. Devotions were led by Mrs. Goodman, and Hilliard gave the treasury's report.

Refreshments were served by the Goodmans. The Rev. John Clark was a guest.

The group will meet the evening of Dec. 17 to decorate the church for Christmas.

Friendly Eight Club members met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Sally Duck of Route 39. Prizes in 500 went to Mrs. Wanda Hanlon, Mrs. Shirley Lingerfelt, Mrs. Betty Bell and Mrs. Ellen Vaness, a guest. Members assisted the hostess with lunch.

The meeting Dec. 20 will feature a gift exchange at the Hanlon home on Clark Ave.

Games with Mrs. Mary Wagers in charge featured the meeting of VAR Club members Friday night at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Taggart of Chester Ave. "Guest Night" was observed.

Winners were Mrs. Betty Wilson, Mrs. Helen Christian, Miss Mae Miller, Mrs. Vivian Taggart and Mrs. Ann Kelly. Guests included Mrs. Virginia Martin, Mrs. Tyra Martin, Mrs. Christian, Mrs. Margie Martin, Mrs. Dorothy Ewing, Mrs. Lucille Reed and Miss Denise Ewing.

Members will meet Dec. 6 at Meade's Restaurant for a Christmas dinner then go to the home of Mrs. Florence Miller of 11th St. and Buckeye Ave. for games and a gift exchange.

The Brotherhood Club is serving a chitterling dinner tonight from 4 to 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church social rooms for the benefit of its projects.

Miss Alice Jean Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockhart of Wellsville R. D. 1, became the bride of Stewart Arthur Buzzard, son of John Buzzard of Railroad St., East End, and the late Mildred Gamble Buzzard, Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Yellow Creek United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. James McCollam, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a French blue acetate peau dome-skirted ballerina dress with a split butterfly bow-back detail. Her brief veil was held in place by a pearl and horsehair braid. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Carl Anderson, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and was attired in an ensemble identical to that of the bride. Her headpiece was a bandeau of matching feathers. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Carl Anderson was best man.

A reception followed at the Anderson home on the Y & O Rd. for members of the family and friends.

The bride attended Wellsville High School and her husband, who spent three years in the Army, attended Beaver Local High School.

The couple will reside temporarily with the Andersons.

Candles and a cornucopia filled with flowers and fruit decorated the table for the 6 o'clock coverdish dinner of past noble grands of Tirzah Rebekah Lodge 370 Friday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Hough of Lincoln Ave.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Goldie Hawksworth and Mrs. Doris Knepper. Miss Helen Moncrief, president, was in charge. Miss Florence Bishop opened devotions with the Lord's Prayer in unison. She read Ps. 100, an article, "I Am Thankful For—" and a poem, "I'm Awfully Well for the Shape I'm In." The leader closed with prayer.

Mrs. Mary Pearce had the entertainment of contests which were won by Mrs. Lenora Thomas and Mrs. Julia Putt. The Christmas party will be held Dec. 27 at the Thomas home in Highlandtown with each contributing to devotions. Mrs. Edith Henstock will be in charge of the entertainment.

WOOL MISS. Cheri Slikker, 18, Miss Wool of America, models an ensemble in New York City that spotlights the fall of 1963. The three-piece costume offers that sportive look — longer coat, muffled throat and bold check.

Lisbon Club Plans Dinner

The El Ocho Duplicate Bridge Club of Lisbon made plans for its annual Christmas dinner when it met with Mrs. Ralph Rose of N. Market St. Monday night.

The Yule affair will be held Dec. 9 with Mrs. William S. Frew of E. Chestnut St.

Canasta Club members were guests of Mrs. Eleanor Hartman of East Lincoln Way Saturday evening.

Mrs. Florence Forbes of W. Lincoln Way will be hostess Dec. 7.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Conn of the Salineville Rd. were their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hylan Layman, of Lakewood. Sunday dinner guests were their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Weikart and sons, Roger, Randy and Brett, of Leetonia, and Miss Kathy Yanik of Salem.

Guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Polite and Mr. and Mrs. Urban Engle of W. Lincoln Way for the Thanksgiving holidays are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Polite of Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Grange Prayers Honor President

WEST POINT — In memory of the late president John F. Kennedy, the West Point Grange observed a period of silent prayer at its meeting held Friday evening at the Grange Hall, following a coverdish dinner with Ralph Cusick, master, presiding.

Two manuals from the State Grange were received for entering the community service project. Mrs. Frank Padurean was presented a blue ribbon for winning the county grange baking contest last year and a distinguished service certificate and pin were awarded Mrs. Phillip Carnes for serving as secretary for the past 10 years.

An attendance contest with the men and women comprising separate teams, will be held the next three months. The losing team will forfeit the winners.

Group singing opened the program arranged by Mrs. Lloyd Smith, lecturer.

Groups To Meet At Elkton Church

A quarterly meeting of the commissions of the Elkton Methodist Church will be held tonight at the church.

The final session of a school of missions was held at the church Sunday. Members of the church MYF attended a sub-district rally at East Liverpool Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Camilla Sayre of Racine is to return Wednesday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Nett Wolfe.

Steven Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitten, is convalescing from a hand injury suffered in a wrenger Saturday at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon.

Miss Gretta Mundy Weds David E. Cronin At Newell

Miss Gretta Gay Mundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Mundy of Salineville R.D., became the bride of Airman 3C David E. Cronin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Cronin of Newell, the evening of Nov. 9 at the Newell Methodist Church.

The Rev. Ralph Hedrick officiated before an altar banked with palms. Miss Nancy Clark played a half hour of nuptial music preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza styled with a sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. Motifs of alencon lace covered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins decorated the bodice, wrists and skirt. The bouffant skirt had an apron front caught in back with two roses.

The chapel train fell in wide ruffles of silk organza and a queen's crown of seed pearls and teardrop crystals held the shoulder length illusion veil. The bride observed the traditions with a sixpence in her shoe. She carried a Bible of a friend, Mrs. Eileen Madison, which was topped with white orchids and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Francine Madison of Columbus, wore a royal blue peace satin gown with a fitted bodice and bateau neckline, elbow length sleeves and bell-type floor length skirt finished with a self bow and streamers in front.

A flyaway veil was held in place by royal satin petals centered with seed pearls. Her colonial bouquet was of white carnations with satin streamers.

Joseph Graham of Newell, a friend of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Dan and Danny Clark of Wintersville, uncle and cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a candlelight sheath gown of brocade with orange accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a silver and black sheath with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception followed at the Chester American Legion Hall with Mrs. Gerald Silliman, Mrs. Dan Clark, Mrs. Robert Kehrer and Miss Sharon DeLong as aides.

Guests were present from Sistersville, Weirton, East Liverpool, Salineville, Irondale, Wintersville, Columbus and Canton.

The bride is employed with the Francis P. White Agency of East Liverpool.

Pupils' Shift Ends School At Grandview

The Grandview School near Chester has ended 57 years of service in the Hancock County system.

The three-room building was abandoned today in a move towards consolidation by the County Board of Education.

Some 80 students transferred to Chester schools instead of continuing at the older school for the remainder of the year.

Sixty in Grades 1 through 3 now attend a new primary school, while 20 fourth graders attend Chester Junior High School or Central School.

C. B. Smith, principal at Grandview for about 15 years, has been assigned as a fourth grade teacher at Pughtown, while Mrs. Winifred Hetzler and Mrs. Dora Greenwalt are teaching at another primary school.

Parents voted 29-13 recently to have their youngsters abandon Grandview for other buildings. But the Board of Education planned to close the school after the spring term regardless.

Grandview School was erected in 1906. Two years ago, a team of research officials from Ohio State University recommended that it be closed, and county residents later approved a $5 million bond issue to construct new schools for expansion and modernization of the system.

Lisbon's Fire Funds Paid In Council Step

LISBON — Council Monday night authorized payment of $340 to the fire department, representing the $20 monthly allotment that had been suspended since July 1962 for lack of village finances.

Council has been paying the monthly fund for years to help the department and payment of the lump sum last night followed the recommendation of Fred Steele and Raymond Dixon of the fire committee.

This is the only aid firemen get except for proceeds from the firemen's annual solicitation of business places and from voluntary contributions for ambulance service.

Clyde Pike, president of Council, who presided, in the absence of Mayor Dean Stockman, said he would arrange a meeting between Council's fire committee and a committee from the fire department to go over the monthly payment policy in the future. However, the back payment will be met until Council acts otherwise.

Council voted to purchase two Mueller pumper hydrants of break - away design from the Trumbull Plumbing Supply Co. of Youngstown at a cost of $157.80, at the request of the Board of Public Affairs.

Removal of a "no parking" sign in front of Dr. E. B. Egli's former home on W. Lincoln Way was authorized since he has moved to Florida. A suggestion that the one - hour parking signs be removed from the south side of W. Chestnut St. from Buckeye Dr. east to Market St. was turned over to the street committee for study.

Courtney Pennell, Lisbon manager of the utility, advised Council the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is changing its name to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., on Jan. 1. Production and transmission departments will continue to operate under Ohio Fuel Gas for the present. The distribution department will be operated by Columbia Gas within the village and there will be no change in gas service of rates, nor in personnel. Lisbon's present rate contract runs to Oct. 24, 1964.

TRAGEDY OF 1865. Mrs. Jonathan C. Mason, 1326 Pennsylvania Ave., scans an extra edition of The Pittsburgh Commercial that hit the streets April 16, 1865, with accounts of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln two days earlier in Ford's Theater in Washington. She discovered the paper some time ago in her basement, along with an 1827 Almanac. Mrs. Mason tearfully read the late accounts of Lincoln's assassination by John Wilkes Booth, an actor, while hearing broadcasts of funeral services Monday for President John F. Kennedy, shot by an assassin in Dallas, Tex.

Group At Calvary Church Hears Topic On 'Mission'

Miss Irene Firth, program chairman, used the subject, "Our Mission Today," at a meeting of the WSCS of the Calvary Methodist Church Friday night in the church social rooms.

Miss Firth began the program by lighting candles, followed by the group singing, "O Master Workman of the Race." She used Scriptures taken from Matt. 16:12-16 and Matt. 28:16-20.

The group joined in the responsive reading from the program book, followed by the hymn, "We've a Story to Tell to the Nation."

Assisting in the program were Miss Ruth Williams, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery and Mrs. Henry Johnston.

Mrs. Edwin Boyer sang a solo "I'll Never Walk Alone," with Mrs. Robert Birch as accompanist.

The program closed with prayer.

During business conducted by Mrs. Beulah Weber, president, members donated $45 for a mimeograph to be used for the church.

The society will send boxes to each member of the church who is attending college and those with the armed services, at Christmastime. It also will remember sick and shut-ins of the church at Christmas.

Reports included: Mrs. Johnston, secretary, and Mrs. Dorothy Fagan, treasurer. Roll call was answered with a Thanksgiving thought.

The meeting closed with the Sunday School benediction.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nedra Knoblock and Mrs. Lillian Richards.

Next meeting Dec. 20 will feature a coverdish Christmas dinner. Mrs. Knoblock will be worship leader.

Funeral Services Set Wednesday For Ex-Publisher

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services for James W. Dunlap, 86, former publisher of a weekly newspaper at Lodi, are scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Parker Funeral Home in Lodi.

He died Monday in the Sunset Nursing Home at New Pittsburgh, Ohio.

He began his career in his father's printshop at West Salem and moved to Lodi in 1904. He owned and operated the old Review, now the Lodi Advertiser, for 25 years and later was manager of the printing department for the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co. at Leroy for 18 years. He retired in 1946.

Dunlap had served as mayor of Lodi, member of the Board of Education, village clerk, councilman, justice of the peace and president of the Commercial Club. He also had served one term as mayor of West Salem.

He had been a member of the Medina County Board of Elections, the County Board of Health and the County Democratic Central and Executive committees.

Dunlap also was a member and former treasurer of the Buckeye Press Association.

County Draft Board Sends 27 For Exams

LISBON — Twenty-seven men left this morning for Cleveland for pre-induction physicals, as the final call for November, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk of County Draft Board 16.

The December quota includes five men for induction and 39 for physicals. Three men will leave for induction on Dec. 2 and two on Dec. 9 and the 39 for pre-induction physicals Dec. 17, Mrs. Griffith said.

Car Scrapes Halted Truck

An auto whose driver was blinded by the sun scraped the side of a halted truck Monday at 4:12 p. m. on Harvey Ave., 30 feet east of Putnam St., police reported.

The 1958 model auto operated by Michael Vohar, 45, of Price St. Ext. scraped the right side of a 1951 model truck owned by the Riggs Co., 745 Dresden Ave., officers said.

Driving west, Vohar said the sun was in his eyes and he had no idea he was too close to the truck, which was halted to make a delivery to a market, officers reported. There was damage to the right side of the car. The truck was undamaged, officers said.

Another mishap on W. 5th St. at 4:57 p. m. yesterday damaged a 1962 sedan driven by Miss Catherine Franzetta of Manor Ln. and a 1958 station wagon driven by Frank A. Verzella, 551 Main St., Wellsville, officers said.

Miss Franzetta was pulling from a parking spot and Verzella was driving west on W. 5th, police said. The mishap damaged the left door and left rear quarter panel of the Franzetta auto and the right front fender and bumper of Verzella's car, police said.

30 At Ruritan Club Service

Thirty attended the installation of officers held Monday night by the Southern Ruritan Club at the Bethel Presbyterian Church near Wellsville.

Fred Leughmyer is the incoming president. Tom Nelson was elected and seated as treasurer.

Ralph Schneider of North Georgetown, district governor, was the installing officer.

A memorial service was conducted by the Rev. William Harper, host pastor, for President Kennedy. Robert Dornick led singing of patriotic songs.

John Witherow, retiring president, conducted business. The club will distribute 25 baskets of food to needy families for Christmas. Christmas cards and fruit cakes will be given shut-ins at rest homes.

The committee in charge of the baskets includes Ed Seraty, Robert Hays, William Carter and Raymond Rolley.

Family Night will be observed at the meeting Dec. 30. A gift exchange will be held.

Club To Hear Pastor

LISBON — The Rev. William Ring, pastor of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ, will give a Thanksgiving talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday noon in the D. of A. Hall with Atty. Donald Lewis program chairman. The meeting was moved up from Thursday due to Thanksgiving.

Rogers Area Has Fire

ROGERS — No damage resulted from a brush and trash fire to which volunteer firemen were summoned Monday afternoon at 4:30 near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Barnhouse. Firemen were originally notified the house was afire in a phone call.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Program For 'Desperate' Dieter

with a slimming program? Having a goal adds interest and excitement to reducing. However, What helps a dieter to stay knowing you are on the right track is all important. Doubt dampens enthusiasm and without that quickening of the spirit, dieters bog down. That's part of the trouble with the overweight in today's story.

Ida Jean Kain

"This fall I started to diet to get rid of some of this lard. I am only 5'2" and weigh 140 pounds. Result of diet: I gained three pounds. . . on just one decent meal a day. I cannot lose short of starvation. I get so weak I nearly die, and so irritable I hate my best friends and pick a quarrel. My right weight is 120 pounds. I'm ashamed of this fat — but I guess you cannot help me."

GRAB HOLD of this promise, believe it — you can reduce successfully. On 1100 calories a day, in the right foods, you can lose without going hungry or feeling cross. With you, as with many overweighters, the stumbling block is not only in the feeling of defeat but in the allocation of your calories.

Being short, you burn comparatively few calories. Therefore it is imperative that you take advantage of the science of nutrition which enables you to build a lean, healthy body. Science has found that when more food is consumed at one meal than is needed for immediate use, the excess fuel in that meal is laid down as fat in the tissues.

Dieting, to be successful, must be part of an energizing new hope. You can take heart from this new research. When the day's food is metered out in small, easily handled portions, this is in accordance with the way the chemical processes of the body deal with food effectively.

Eat three small meals a day, including a protein food at each meal. If the time between meals is too long to sustain energy, have a protein snack, in mid-morning and again in mid-afternoon.

USE THIS PATTERN: Build each meal around a high value protein food — lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, ck. wt., or cottage cheese, 1/2 cup, or an egg, plus skim milk or buttermilk, total of 2 glasses. In the day's meals include 2 fruits, one a citrus, 3 vegetables, and 2 to 3 thin slices of bread, plus 3 half pats of butter or margarine. Do not salt excessively.

To add a fillip of fine feeling, walk 2 straight away miles a day — it's slimming practice. One former overweight reports that she has succeeded in losing 22 excess pounds in three months by eating three small meals and having two protein pick-ups; total calories 1100 a day. She finished her note on this triumphant line: "To my enormous surprise, I was never

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I own and operate a lunch room. This is the way I prepare French fries:

Pre-fry French fries at 400 degrees just until the water is cooked out. . . three or four minutes!

Drain thoroughly and let stand until cold. Place in plastic bags and then put in the freezer. I have found this method to be very good and we never have any brown or limp French fries in our lunch room.

It takes only a minute or two to have golden crisp fries by putting them in your deep fryer again at 400 degrees.

SALLY ORR.

DEAR FOLKS: Do let me give you a word of caution about disposals that will perhaps save you a service call.

Do NOT use disposals to dispose of . . . wood, metal, glass, string, paper, bones or chicken skin, etc. As an extra precaution I suggest that you do not put celery stalks in it either. Eventually this turns into strings. What a mess!

HELOISE.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an idea for that gift bottle of toilet water that you have received and will never use.

I poured some in my sprinkler bottle along with the water, and sprinkled all of the bureau scarfs, pillow slips, and cotton dresses before ironing. This is one way to use it up and everything smells good. Makes ironing faster.

READER

DEAR HELOISE: This might be common knowledge, but I just recently discovered it for myself, and was so thrilled that I wanted to pass it along to others.

If you wipe over your hot, plugged-in coffee pot with your soapy dishcloth (be careful you don't burn yourself) this will remove all of the ugly stains and leave it shiny and new looking. One does not even have to dry it!

MRS. B.

Yes, it works Mrs. B. May I warn others to please fold these dishcloths so they won't burn their hands on the hot pot?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I abhor ironing. Here's a way I get out of ironing my kitchen tablecloths: Instead of drying them thoroughly after washing, I remove them from the dryer while they are still damp (which means no totally dry spots.) I fold them carefully, matching the tops with care, lay them on hem of my dryer and smooth them out with my hands until they have no wrinkles.

The heat from drying the remainder of my washing, dries and irons my cloths. I turn the cloth over occasionally and they are neatly pressed. . . minus much effort.

MRS. GENE C. BULLOCK.

From The Kitchen

LADIES: The day the notion strikes you to wash your flour sifter, I beg of you, DON'T put it in hot water first. Hot water and flour make a paste.

Hold the sifter under your cold water faucet spray and remove all of the flour, before you put it in your dishwasher or hot dish water. Will really save trouble later.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My daughter took a red crayon and scribbled all over our steps. I was furious when I saw it.

I poured turpentine on the crayon marks, took a little wire brush and rubbed the turpentine in. Then I hosed down the steps and to my surprise they were spotless.

MRS. C. HILZ.

Murder Charge Filed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A first-degree murder charge was filed Monday against Napoleon (Abie) Olds, 27, an East Side truck driver and part-time professional boxer. He is accused of the fatal shooting of a grocery store owner, Jack Marx, 71, Saturday.

Rites Set Wednesday

20 Of Fire Victims To Be Buried In Common Grave

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—About 20 of the 63 elderly persons who perished in a fire at a rest home near Fitchville Saturday are expected to be buried Wednesday in a common grave, a trench about 60 feet long.

Although all the victims have been identified, 28 who died in the blaze at the Golden Age Nursing Home have not been claimed. Officials expect more relatives to claim their dead by the 2 p.m. burial time.

The remains of the unclaimed bodies—each will be placed in a wooden box—will be interred side by side in Fitchville Cemetery. Tentative plans call for graveside services conducted by a Jewish rabbi, a Catholic priest and a Protestant minister.

A bouquet of flowers and a head marker will be provided for each as state and county officials and members of the Huron County Funeral Directors Association try to give them the best burial possible on limited funds.

Only $180 in state funds from the Aid for the Aged program is provided for each burial.

Martin A. Janis, state mental health director, said Monday he believes the tragedy "should result in a revision of the whole nursing home situation."

The fire may focus attention on a set of nursing home regulations that have been tied up in the courts for two years, said Janis, who was at the scene of the fire.

Thirty-seven of the home's residents had been discharged from mental hospitals, classified unable to benefit from additional treatment. Thirty-six of them died in the blaze.

A set of rules drawn up by the State Health Department and endorsed by an organization of nursing home operators has been enjoined in Franklin County by another group of home operators, Janis said.

He has been promoting the idea of state - run institutions where nursing home residents would have more complete supervision and care than private institutions can provide on limited funds.

Harold Carter, state fire investigator, said the cause of the fire still was undetermined. "In fact, we might never be able to prove what started it, although we may have a pretty good idea," he said.

Auto Radiator Stolen In Scrap Yard Entry

An old auto radiator, and possibly two, were removed from a building at Alpern's Scrap Yard at Belek and Railroad Sts., East End, in a burglary sometime between 5:30 p. m. Sunday and 11 a. m. Monday, police were told.

Nathan Alpern, 1414 Pennsylvania Ave., was listed as the proprietor. Police said the radiators are worth about $4 each.

The intruder used a wrecking bar to force a lock on a door on the north end of the building, officers said. The bar was found 15 to 20 feet away, officers said.

Probe Continues In Slayings Of Woman, 83, Kin

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP)—Fulton County authorities and police at nearby Archbold continued an investigation today into the shotgun deaths of an 83-year-old woman and her 30-year-old grandson whose bodies were found in the woman's home at Archbold.

Police Chief George Kramer of Archbold said Mrs. Emma Harrigan and Lloyd Glenn Harris had been killed by shotgun blasts.

Bodies of the pair were found Monday by Harold Kurtz of Blakeslee, who went to the home after being asked by a granddaughter of Mrs. Harrigan to "check on Grandma."

Authorities said Mrs. Harrigan's 89-year-old husband, W.E. Harrigan, whom they described as feeble, was seated in a rocking chair and seemed to be unaware of what had happened.

Mrs. Harrigan's body was on the kitchen floor and that of her grandson was on a couch in the living room. Two empty shotgun shells were discovered on the back porch but no weapon was found, officers said.

Chief Kramer said the house did not appear to have been ransacked and that nothing was known to be missing.

Sheriff Loren Yoder said Mrs. Harrigan and her grandson apparently had been dead since Saturday night or early Sunday. Dr. R. K. Vogel, Fulton County coroner, planned to examine the bodies today.

New tablet helps prevent

INDIGESTION, GAS, UPSET STOMACH

Because of today's fast, hectic living pace, eating too much too fast, we often suffer indigestion, gas and other uncomfortable forms of stomach upset. But now, a new digestant enzyme tablet called MIAZYME, can help prevent these conditions before they begin.

If you properly digest the food you eat, chances are you will not suffer stomach distress. This is due to the action of enzymes, manufactured in your body. MIAZYME supplements your own enzymes to help prevent stomach distress.

So why risk the distress of stomach upset? Just two MIAZYME tablets a day may help prevent the discomforts of indigestion, gas and may open the door to new vistas in food enjoyment.

MIAZYME contains no narcotics! No habit forming drugs! Only digestant enzymes! No side effects to cause other problems. So safe, no prescription is needed! ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please answer this question for me. Does sleeping on a sofa hurt the sofa in any way? This may sound silly to you, but there is a big fight going on in our family about this.

My mother and her sister are both widows. My aunt likes to sleep at my mother's house one or two nights a week. My mother has only a double bed in her apartment. She can't sleep with my aunt because my aunt is too restless, so my aunt has been sleeping on the sofa.

My mother bought a new sofa two weeks ago and she does not want my aunt to sleep on it because she says sofas were not built for sleeping. My aunt claims her 150 pounds do not add up to the weight of three people sitting on it.

If you don't know the answer to this maybe you can call a furniture store.—MRS. J.B.

Dear Mrs. J.B.: What your aunt's 150 pounds would do to the sofa is beside the point. It is fairly obvious, however, that she is knocking the stuffing out of the family relationship.

Your aunt should visit your mother during the daytime and sleep at home in her own bed.

Old Argument

Dear Ann: Your answer to "1963 Model Mother" who complained of incorrigible children blamed parents in general for the situation.

Often this is the case but you fail to recognize that some children are born with a greater amount of "The Old Adam" than others.

After a number of childless years my wife and I became adoptive parents and raised three children—none of whom were biologically related.

Two of these children were totally incorrigible. They failed to respond to any type of discipline whatever. We tried withholding privileges, scolding, spanking—all without success. These two children made our lives unspeakably difficult.

The third child was lovable, receptive and a joy. We treated all three children alike, showing no favoritism, yet the results were vastly different.

So you can see, Ann, blaming the parents for everything is not always fair.—ANOTHER 1963 PARENT.

Dear 1963: The old argument, "Is it heredity or environment?" again rears its controversial head. Authorities now agree both factors shape the lives of all of us.

Parents who insist that they treat all their children the same are mistaken. It isn't possible. For one thing, you don't say whether the "good" child was a boy or a girl, if he was the first to be adopted, the second or the third. You didn't tell me how far apart in age the children are and what age you were when you adopted them.

Research has proved that children do inherit definite personality traits but environment shapes the inherited material.

Tortured Mother

Dear Ann: I have not led a very clean life. If I had it to do over again, believe me, I would do many things differently. But there is no point in hashing over past mistakes. What I need to know now is what to do about the future.

My son is 20 and he lives at home. His father lives here also but under the guise of a roomer.

This man knows he is the boy's father and anyone who sees them both would have no trouble guessing. The resemblance is striking. I told my son when he was a youngster that his father was dead. My conscience is bothering me something awful. Shall I tell the boy the truth?—TORTURED.

Dear Tortured: Your signature indicates that you won't be content until you do tell him—so go ahead. Since the resemblance is "striking" he probably knows.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Few Changes In College Grid Poll

By The Associated Press

Due to cancellations and postponements in respect to the memory of the late President Kennedy, only a handful of college football games were played last weekend. As a result there were few changes in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Texas, due to end its regular season Thursday in its usual test with Texas A&M, remained in the No. 1 position as the only major unbeaten and untied team in the nation. The final poll will be held next week.

With the fate of the Army-Navy game still hanging in the balance, awaiting a final decision from Washington, idle Navy clung to second place. It was considered likely that Navy would be invited to the Cotton Bowl for a New Year's Day game with Texas if the Middles beat the Cadets.

Mississippi, which had an open date before Saturday's final game with Mississippi State, remained in the No. 3 spot. Then came Michigan State, whose important Big Ten finale with Illinois was put off until Thursday.

Pittsburgh's game with Penn State was postponed to Dec. 7, but the Panthers held position No. 5. Pitt plays Miami, Fla. Saturday night. Alabama, idle since Nov. 16, moved up a peg to No. 6 with an important game coming up Saturday against Auburn.

The only big shuffle resulted in Nebraska, a 29-20 winner over Oklahoma for the Big Eight title, moving up to No. 7 from 10th a week ago. Oklahoma, which had been No. 6, fell to No. 10.

Illinois, waiting for the big game with Michigan State, remained No. 8, followed by Auburn which defeated Florida State 21-15.

Pentagon Holds The Answer

Decision May Come Today On Service Game Saturday

By The Associated Press

"We all feel like we have been hit in the pit of the stomach," said Navy Coach Wayne Hardin. "We haven't an inkling about playing the game."

Army Coach Paul Dietzel said his team was "waiting for a decision."

The decision on whether to play the Army-Navy football game, scheduled for Saturday in Philadelphia, will have to come from the Pentagon. It may come today.

Officials of both service academies have said they are in favor of playing, since they feel that President Kennedy had a great interest in football and sports generally. The late President attended the last two games.

However, the next 30 days have been designated as a period of mourning for the armed services.

Auburn has the inside track on an Orange Bowl bid, bowl officials said, if the Tigers put up a good show against Alabama in the final game Saturday. Auburn is ranked No. 9, Alabama No. 6.

Bama is a likely participant in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, as is Mississippi.

If Auburn should stumble badly against its state rival, the Orange Bowl sponsors may look in Pitt's direction. The Panthers play Miami Saturday night, in their next-to-last game. They also have been mentioned for the Gator Bowl.

Michigan State went back to work late Monday to prepare for the postponed meeting with Illinois, now scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, that will settle the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl assignment—but the squad showed none of its usual zest and high spirits.

"This wasn't a normal day," Coach Duffy Daugherty said. "They had just come from watching the funeral of the President on television."

Daugherty said further practice sessions would be closed to fans and newsmen, as the coaches try to build up enthusiasm again for the game.

Illinois delayed its workout until after burial ceremonies were ended.

Mira Having Great Year Despite Miami's Record

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Is George Mira, Miami's All-America a year ago, still a top notch quarterback in spite of his team's 3-5 record this season?

Here's how his coach, Andy Gustafson, answers the question:

"Despite every conceivable handicap, George has been far greater than he was in 1962. There is no doubt that he is the nation's greatest passing quarterback."

"If you don't believe it, wait and see who is the No. 1 choice in the National Football League draft."

Unquestionably, any pro club would jump at the chance to grab the 6-foot-2, 182 - pound bomber whose accurate aerial shots have propelled him close to the top of the list among college football's all-time great passers.

The San Francisco 49ers reportedly have a fat contract ready for Mira if they get first call in the NFL draft.

Mira's individual statistics seem to support Gustafson's stand.

Playing on a comparatively weak team, he has completed

Hawks Show Six Players In Top 10 Scoring List

MONTREAL (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks, running away with the National Hockey League race and scoring goals at a season record pace, placed six men in the top ten scoring list, statistics showed today.

Hawks rank 1-2 in points and 1-2-3 in goals. Bobby Hull with 31 and Stan Mikita with 30 top the points makers, and Hull, 14, Mikita, 13, and Kenny Wharram, 12, are the leading goal makers.

The Hawks, leading the league by nine points, have scored 73 goals in 19 games. At that rate they would have 269 goals for the season, topping the record 259 scored by the Montreal Canadiens in 1960-61.

At the same point last year, the Hawks also led the league, but with only 50 goals.

Chicago goalies Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy also top the league, with a goals against average of 2.11.

At Bowling Green

E. Palestine's Wisser Selected MVP, Captain

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green State University selected three captains to guide its 1964 football team during the team's annual banquet Monday night.

The three selected by the players were Jim Wisser of East Palestine, fullback; Jerry Ward of Lima, quarterback, and Tom Reicosky of East Sparta, halfback.

In addition, the squad selected Wisser as the most valuable back, and Bill Violet of Mechanicsburg, a guard, as the most valuable lineman.

The BGU team wound up its 1963 season with an 8-2 record, finishing third in the Mid-American Conference.

President Joins

Eagles' Fund Drive

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Johnson will join members of the Philadelphia Eagles football team in contributing funds to the widow of Dallas policeman J. D. Tippitt, according to Pete Retzlaff, president of the National Football League Players' Association.

The Eagles disclosed over the weekend they will contribute part of their pay to the widow of the patrolman slain by the man accused of murdering President John F. Kennedy, Cliff Carter, one of President Johnson's aides, called Retzlaff and said the chief executive wanted to join the players.

NAIA Slates Grid Playoff

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The semifinal playoffs in the National Association of Intercollegiate athletics will match College of Emporia (Kan.) against St. John's (Minn.), and Kearney State (Neb.) against Prairie View A&M (Texas).

The Emporia-St. John's game will be at Minneapolis Saturday, Nov. 30, and the Kearney-Prairie View game will be at Kearney Saturday, Dec. 7.

The two winners will meet for the NAIA championship in the Camellia Bowl game at Sacramento, Calif., Dec. 14.

The NAIA selection committee completed arrangements for the playoffs and announced the selections of Prairie View and Emporia Monday. Kearney and St. John's were chosen last week.

Emporia has a 25-game winning streak in regular season play—longest in the NAIA.

Prairie View is the first Negro team to gain a spot in the football semifinals.

Orange Coast was invited Monday and Northeastern Oklahoma's selection was announced today by the game's Board of Management.

Syracuse, Harvard, Texas Picked In Leading Games

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the major bowl berths and conference titles are still undecided going into the last big weekend of the college football season. A majority of last week's scheduled settlers were postponed because of the death of President Kennedy.

Here are the winners for the remainder of the season:

Texas over Texas A&M: If Tommy Ford can't outrun the determined Cadets Thanksgiving Day, then Tony Crosby will kick across the decisive points. Texas takes a perfect record into the Cotton Bowl game.

Navy over Army: The Middles successfully complete their Drive for Five Saturday. Army, strictly an infantry aggregation, has neither an aerial offense nor anti-aircraft weapons and Roger Staubach not only can scramble and run but he also can pass.

Harvard over Yale: This is one of the postponed games that will be played Saturday. The late President's Alma Mater will triumph decisively.

Syracuse over Notre Dame: It took most of the season but Syracuse's backfield questions all have been answered, which is bad news for Notre Dame. The scene is Yankee Stadium on Thursday.

Michigan State over Illinois: The Spartans grab the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl assignment in one swoop.

Alabama over Auburn: A Saturday bruiser, and Alabama has the corner on muscles.

Mississippi over Mississippi State: In recent years this has been a mere workout for Ole Miss., always en route to a New Year's Day bowl contest. This Saturday it will be a rugged affair but the result will be the same.

Others: Wisconsin over Minnesota, Cincinnati over Miami, Purdue over Indiana, Ohio State over Michigan, Kansas over Missouri, Oklahoma over Oklahoma State, Wichita over Tulsa.

Air Force, Colorado Cancel Talks On Game

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Representatives of the Air Force Academy and University of Colorado have canceled today's meeting at which they were to decide when their football teams would meet.

A spokesman for the Academy said permission had not been received from Washington to hold the game, originally scheduled for last Saturday. Military services were ordered to cancel social activities and entertainment for 30 days after President Kennedy's assassination.

Red Chinese Hurl Charge At Johnson

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China charged today that President Johnson has called for increased "aggression" in South Viet Nam.

The official Peking People's Daily, quoted by Peking Radio, said:

"The new U.S. President Lyndon Johnson has issued his first foreign policy directive calling for intensified efforts for aggression in South Viet Nam."

The broadcast also reported without comment the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, who had been charged with assassinating President Kennedy.

Oswald Bid For Visa

Rejected, Cuba Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban government said Monday night that Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy, tried Sept. 27 to get a visa to go through Cuba on the way to the Soviet Union.

Oswald's request was turned down, the Cuban government said in a statement broadcast by Havana radio and monitored in Miami.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa said the request was not granted because Oswald did not have authorization from the Soviet Union.

Governor Of Texas

Spends Restful Night

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. John Connally was described today as having spent a restful night and being in good spirits.

His doctors at Parkland Hospital said his recovery is "proceeding as we would expect it to."

Connally underwent surgery after being wounded in the chest, hand and leg by the assassin that killed President John F. Kennedy last Friday.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How should furs be dried?
A. Never dry a fur that has been worn in a rain or snow storm near heat. Intense heat injures the fur. Remove the excess moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the fur in a cool place to dry.

Q. How can I patch holes in concrete?

A. The first thing to do is prepare the hole, making the underside of the hole larger than the upper side — like an inverted "V." This is done with a cold chisel. Next make sure that all particles and dust are brushed away. Moisten the surface and edges of the concrete to be patched. Fill the hole, tamping in the patching cement. Keep the patch area moist, since moisture delays the curing time for cement and makes the finished patch hold much better.

Junior Editors Quiz on EXPLORATION

QUESTION: Who was first to sail around the world?

ANSWER: The first men to actually circumnavigate the earth were Juan Sebastian del Cano and the crew of the ship Victoria. Del Cano was commander of one of the ships on the famous voyage around the earth of which the commander-in-chief was Ferdinand Magellan. Magellan, however, died before the trip was accomplished, and only the Victoria, one of the five brave ships which started from Sanlucar, Spain, on Sept. 20, 1519, returned.

Magellan did not actually plan to sail around the earth. He was backed by the King of Spain, Charles V., the understanding being that he was to sail to the Spice Islands of the East by a western route and claim these rich lands for Spain. But when, after many difficulties, Magellan's ships reached the island of Cebu in the Philippines an unfortunate dispute with the natives cost the commander-in-chief his life. The other ships were wrecked and burned, but del Cano pressed on for home by the shortest route, thus circling the globe. Although marked by disaster, this great voyage gave men a greatly increased knowledge of the earth. Magellan is often called the greatest navigator who ever lived.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch your newspaper closely these days. Other epic voyages are about to be begun--into space.

Geriatrics To The Rescue

After a few solid hours of Ricky Nelson, Patty Duke and the tired pups who clatter down "Route 66," a viewer wants to prescribe a tonic for TV youngsters everywhere.

There is no wearier sight on the small screen than that of young Ben Casey slumping over a fever chart, lowering his upper lids like a coffin top and muttering his complaints — just a testy old duffer with a bellyache. George C. Scott goes about his business with a sigh that, you feel, may be the last sound he ever will utter.

LOOK DOWN the schedule. The detective of "Arrest and Trial," the young psychiatrist of "Breaking Point," the junior college instructor of "Channing," the Preston Jr. of "The Defenders," the husband of "Glynis," the nurse-in-training in "The Nurses," the Marine hero of "The Lieutenant" — they all go through their paces with a migraine look, an arthritic stance.

A week's stay in a geriatrics clinic, you guess, would get them back up on their feet, get the tired blood coursing once more.

But then, every so often, a personality who has been around since the founding of the republic — someone of the vintage of Thomas Jefferson or Bob Hope — prances across the screen to remind us that television still has its sap unning and its muscle spindles aquiver.

THE OCTOGENARIANS seem to be the only TV characters who would pass a Vic Tanney entrance examination these days; the kids are 4F.

Take Friday night a week ago as a case in point. While Amos Burke, Tod and Linc, and members of Congressman Morley's household were wheezing through their toilsome routines, Thomas Jefferson himself was engaged in a bracing verbal Donnybrook with that ill-tempered, self-made aristocrat, Alexander Hamilton.

Their battle royal over America's future course — was it to be a monarchy or a republic — was as stirring as a Republican Democratic set-to.

As in most historical dramas, there were some embarrassments built into the "Hall of Fame" presentation of Sidney Kingsley's 20-year-old play, "The Patriots."

A VIEWER was tickled into a smile rather than a stir of admiration as Jefferson casually mentioned his recent invention of the dumbwaiter or suggested to President George Washington that he try his new threshing machine.

Exclamations like "Monstrous!" do not have the contemporaneous ring of "Hey, crazy!" And some speeches smack of the school assembly (Jefferson to his man servant, Jupiter: "It's written in the book of fate. Your people will be free") instead of common discourse.

But if rhetoric is the pill one must swallow in 18th and 19th century historical drama, it must be remembered that this was a rhetorical era. Revolutions, after all, are a strange compound of mob violence and platform oratory. And to "The Patriots'" credit, much of the speechifying was true and moving.

JEFFERSON'S final words to Hamilton, as a case in point, were good theater.

Out of fear of Aaron Burr's ascendancy to power and a large-scale riot in the streets, Hamilton had decided to swing the electoral vote to his ideological enemy, Jefferson, while Jefferson, fed to the teeth with public life and longing only for a return to Monticello, painfully accepted his victory.

He expressed his belief in the new nation as "the world's best hope" and then his gratitude to Hamilton: "I thank you for my glorious misery."

Charlton Heston was a bit too sharp-edged for the role of Jefferson; but his acting had the right importance to it. John Fraser, as Hamilton, was a bundle of erratic strength and the night was his.

THE NIGHT also belonged to that original Minute Man, Bob Hope. He appeared as the star of the program for which he normally is only the doorman.

The Albert E. Lewin - Burt Styler script, "The House Next Door," was not a new piece of goods in any sense, but a threadbare article out of the old Hope chest.

There were gangsters, a curvaceous moll, a prim little wife, a ubiquitous corpse; and Hope played, just as he was doing when the Continental Congress was in session, a lascivious coward.

It was all miraculously funny, though — I suppose because this particular lascivious coward just can't miss.

And Jill St. John, as the bouncy moll, was eye-filling enough to fire life even into such stuffs as psychiatrist Richards, Lt. Lockwood and Dr. Casey.

Unhappy Children Sometimes Steal

As a rule, the child who begins to steal has not had a happy, companionable and affectionate relation with one or both parents. A mother from Long Island, N. Y., writes of her only child, 8½: "She is pretty and has a high IQ. She is very domineering, aggressive, Dr. Garry Meyers and forceful; often disobedient, even arrogant to her father and me. At times she is very disagreeable toward me."

"In the last couple of weeks I have noticed three instances when she has stolen. Her most recent theft was today."

"SHE TOOK A book that belonged to the school library. (I found it accidentally under the bed when playing hide and seek with her.) Of course, we went through illogical explanations and then she admitted it. 'When she took a doll's dress from a store I told her to return it and not do it again. 'My husband, who is very easy and almost afraid of her, just spoke to her of honesty. She said she expected from me a stinging spanking for this.' My reply in part:

I think you are right in wanting to teach the child to obey and respect you and your husband. It may be that you haven't done well in teaching her to mind and have allowed yourself to jaw and get angry before you do anything."

UNLESS SHE attacks you or her father, I doubt whether you should spank her. It would be better to require her to sit, doing nothing, unamused, as punishment for at least 30 minutes where you can see her. If she leaves the chair too soon she should be switched or paddled.

Having settled a few of these matters, I hope you spend a lot of time trying to listen to what she wants to tell you about her experiences, enjoying her achievements, and her friends and proving to her that you really feel affection for her. You don't do this by cuddling and kissing but by being really interested in everything she does.

When you find her with something that you're sure belongs to some other person or place, don't tell her to take it back; go with her to return it so that you're sure she does. I hope you don't have "trials" for her.

If you suspect she has taken something or done something wrong, but don't have the facts and can't get them except from her testimony, don't ask her. Just keep your eyes and ears open and make it a serious matter when she disobeys or does something she knows she shouldn't.

TRY TO PROTECT her from too great temptations she can't withstand. Try to help her cultivate playmates of her age — attract them to your home.

You and Dad should sit down together and try to figure out ways to make her feel more happy with you and, at the same time, hold her to obedience in reasonable regulations.

30-Day Mourning For President

Rockefeller, Goldwater Delay Political Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona say they plan no political speeches for a month in deference to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Rockefeller, who has declared himself a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, said Monday he will not push his candidacy during the 30-day period of mourning which he has decreed for New York State.

Goldwater, who leads polls as a potential GOP presidential nominee but has yet to declare himself in the running, told a reporter he has canceled three television appearances and will make no more political speeches this year.

Since the assassination of Kennedy "there is an absence of anything political to talk about," Goldwater said.

Rockefeller said in a statement that during the 30-day mourning period "I shall not participate personally in any public activity in connection with the Republican presidential nomination, nor in any other public activities with the exception of those falling within my official duties as governor of New York State."

Goldwater said that so far as he is concerned, the tragic sequence of events has removed the Kennedy administration as an issue.

"We want to see what President Johnson will do," he said. "We do not know what course he will take, whether he will change some of them."

"We want to give him all of the room he needs to operate and all of the help he needs. It would not be fair for the opposing party to heckle him while he is getting organized in his new job. Let's give him a couple of months to see what he can do."

Chairman William E. Miller

Auditorium Renamed In Kennedy's Honor

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) The city of Santa Monica, proud of its occasional association with John F. Kennedy, is renaming its civic auditorium in his honor.

Mayor Rex Minter said Monday that at a name-changing ceremony in about two weeks. The building will be known as the John F. Kennedy Memorial Auditorium.

During his public life, President Kennedy often visited the Santa Monica beachfront home of his sister, Mrs. Peter Lawford.

The balance of the collections will follow the usual schedule, Melvin said.

Man Admits Slaying Night Club Operator

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—A 30-year-old St. Mary's man was held without charge in the Ottawa County jail today in the killing of Peter C. Basile, 72-year-old night club operator.

Sheriff Myron Hetrick said Paul A. Young admitted the killing late Monday night following intensive questioning. He said Young was arrested early Monday after being traced through taxicab drivers with whom he had ridden from here to Sandusky and from Sandusky to Toledo.

Man Gets $3,740 From U.S. After $4,000 Fire Loss

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—An 81-year-old farmer, Edward Van Pelt, lost nearly $4,000 in a fire last February, but Monday he got back $3,740 of it from the U.S. Treasury Department.

And Van Pelt, of Highland County, immediately deposited the money in a bank, saying he "wasn't too old to learn his lesson."

The money, in bills and coins, was charred and melted in a barn fire last February. Van Pelt had stuffed the money in tobacco tins and hid it under 40 bales of hay.

But, with the help of Sheriff Walter Reffitt, the money was carefully packed and shipped to the Treasury Department, 602 St. Clair, East Liverpool, O.

where experts determined how much it was worth.

At the time of the fire, Van Pelt said he had 27 $100 bills, one $500 bill and seven cans of $10s and 20s. A few silver coins and some of the bills were replaced shortly after the fire, amounting to $210.

When Buick builds a LeSabre -- Buick builds a high-priced car, and puts a low price on it.

Lots of cars are in LeSabre's price class, but that's where the resemblance ends. For instance: Does anybody else in LeSabre's class treat you to that gentle Buick ride or impressive Buick performance and new gas economy? No. And who else gives you 15-inch wheels, finned aluminum front brakes, extra cushioning for middle-seat travelers, and separate heat ducts and controls for the rear seat? Right again: Nobody in LeSabre's field but LeSabre. If all this makes you think a LeSabre would look awfully nice in your garage, you should see how nicely it fits a budget. You know who to see about it, of course: your Buick dealer. Who else? Above all, it's a Buick
